Paul Morrall, Director of Education, Chickenshed, sat on wall outside building.

Moves to rehearsals inside theatre.

(SPEECH)

Paul Morrall: Sometimes we think we know all the answers about things like online safety and young people are always there to challenge us and say this is our lived experience and you need to take notice of it.

Live theatre doesn't allow you to switch off, it's in your face and it makes you think about all the different issues that people are talking about.
